Maui Has Patriotic Fourth Celebration

Excellent Races Of Untrained Horses Is Preceded By Patriotic Speeches And Ceremonies And Followed By Fine Polo Game

Maui's Fourth of July celebration yesterday was probably one of the most patriotic and generally interesting of any that have ever gone before. The main feature of course, was the annual race meet at Kahului under the auspices of the Maui County Fair & Racing Association, and the polo game which followed in the afternoon. But there were besides this many private picnic parties all over the island.

The Kahului celebration was more than simply a day of racing. It included a stirring ceremony of flag raising, in which the whole mass of spectators took part, saluting the flag as it was hoisted to the strains of the Star Spangled Banner, played by the Puunene band.

Then followed a patriotic address by Judge L. L. Burr, that was full of fire and thrilled all his hearers. It breathed the spirit of today as well as the spirit of the times when the Declaration of Independence was first signed, and of the days when our young nation was wracked to its foundations in a struggle for its own pre-

Maui May Have New Guard Companies

New Fifth Regiment Being Organized To Take Place Of Those In Service—Recruiting Already Started In Honolulu And Hilo

Col. Will Wayne, adjutant general of the national guard, has written to a number of persons on Maui on the question of organizing here of two companies of the new guard regiment which is now being organized. The regiment is intended to take the place of the guard regiments now in federal service.

"It is proposed in the not distant future," Col. Wayne says, to organize two companies of the new 5th Regiment, national guard of Hawaii, on the island of Maui. The present desire, and I trust there will be no need to switch, is to recruit a regiment throughout the territory which will be of a much higher plane than anything we have before had.

"We are trying to hold very close to the educational tests of reading and writing. We are also particular on the physical end," although our losses in the two regiments that have gone are much lower than those experienced in the mainland guard organizations, I am informed."

Recruiting for the new regiment is well under way at the present time in Honolulu and Hilo. Col. Wayne states that it is not considered probable that the new regiment will be called into service unless an emergency should arise that might call out every able-bodied citizen in the territory.

If the two proposed Maui companies are organized it will need seven officers—2 captains, 2 first lieutenants 2 second lieutenants, and one physician with rank of 1st lieutenant.

MAUI TEACHER MAY ENLIST

Roy I. Ganfield, teacher of the Kapakapa school, left Maui for Honolulu on Wednesday from whence he will sail in a few days for the mainland enroute to his former home in Lenox, Mich. He hopes to be able to enlist in either the aviation corps or the navy. Mrs. Ganfield left for the mainland several months ago.

Maui Men With Flag Head Draft Parade

First Delegation Of Our Boys Made Hit When They Landed In Honolulu—Hana Grieves When Her Boys Depart

"The Claudine arrived at sunrise from Maui, and the Kinau from Kauai each with men of the draft.

"The first draft man to step ashore in Honolulu was a young fellow from Maui, carrying, with pride, a large American flag, to which he clung patriotically until two hours later when he marched through the gates of the mobilization camp at the head of the two contingents.

"As a mark of respect the guard of the 25th U. S. Infantry, on duty at the gate, was lined up, presented arms, and the first military honors were paid to the boys from plantation fields and offices, from stores and schools, from taro patches and rice fields. They too, some day, may line up in the same way to honor other civilians entering the army for the first time.

"At the steamer wharf when the vessels came in was Capt. H. Gooding Field, selective draft officer, who greeted the young man with the flag from Maui and also the leader of the Kauai contingent."—Advertiser.

The Maui man with the flag was Coville Pogue, son of W. F. Pogue, of Wailuku. He had been placed in charge of the first Maui contingent of 86 draftees who left for Honolulu last Saturday night. Chairman Clem Crowell, of the local draft board had thought of the flag, and Maui's was the only delegation which had one. The result was that the Maui boys

Auto Wrecked Riders Have Narrow Escape

One of the most complete automobile wrecked in months occurred last Saturday night on the beach road, just west of Kahului, and three occupants of the car escaped serious accident as by a miracle.

The machine belongs to L. M. Baldwin, county treasurer, who is away on his vacation on the mainland. It was driven by Ernest Baldwin, his son, and in it were also Dr. Boote and a recent arrival in Maui named Smith. The car was proceeding towards Kahului at a rapid clip when it left the road and turned over a time or two. Three wheels were smashed, as were top, wind-shield, fenders, and other parts.

Young Baldwin sustained a cut on the head, but his two passengers were unhurt.

In police court on Tuesday Baldwin was given a suspended sentence for 13 months and his license revoked. He is in the draft and leaves with the contingent sailing tomorrow night.

JAPANESE C. E.'S HAVE JOLLY FOURTH OF JULY PICNIC AT WAIHEE

The young people of the Wailuku Japanese Christian Endeavor and their invited guests enjoyed a very jolly Fourth of July at Waihee beach yesterday. A party of more than 20 gathered at the church at noon and were conveyed by automobiles to Dr. Osmer's cottage at the beach.

Games were planned for the first part of the afternoon but a sight of the water quite overcame any thought of games. After several hours of swimming and water sports, a bountiful war lunch was served. Everyone found it hard to realize that Food Conservation laws can work hardship anywhere, as long as huge, luscious Haiku pineapples are to be had.

After lunch the usual lazy fun was enjoyed, ukuleles and war songs occupied nearly an hour. The postponed games then came in for their fair attention, and everyone was sorry when the automobiles arrived interrupting a jolly game of "three-deep." Back to the church the whole party came, declaring everyone of them that there could never be a jollier Fourth than theirs had been.

The monthly meeting of the chamber of commerce will be held next Thursday afternoon.

Maui High's Third Class Is Graduated

Class Of '18 Finishes Its Course And Is Rewarded With Diplomas For Work Well Done—A Beautiful Commencement

A great crowd of friends and relatives of the nine young members of the Class of '18 of the Maui High School witnessed the unusually pretty exercises of the third annual commencement of the school at the Pala Community House, last Friday evening.

The members of the class who received diplomas are—Misses Elizabeth Clare Lindsay, Lois Bell Murdoch, Ruth Keelikolani Parker, Orlet Helen Robinson, Irene Kaulani Wells, Miyo Gretchen Yoshizawa, Messrs. David Kellilawala Kapohakimoheva, Richard Warner Linton, and Sanford Dole Walker.

Mr. Walker was unable to be present, being a member of the national guard and now in service on Oahu. He was the author of an interesting class history which was read by Miss Murdoch.

The stage of the Community House was very beautifully decorated with flowers and the colors of the class—Gold and Green—while at the back was draped a great American flag and at either side the banners of France and England. In this setting the members of the class completed a unusually pretty picture.

Following an opening song by the school, the Rev. A. Craig Bowdish pronounced an invocation.

Miss Ruth Parker, read an essay, "The Narrowing World", in which

Maui Bakery Is Closed By Food Board Order

Yip Kee's bakery and restaurant on Mill Street, Wailuku, was ordered closed on July 4 and 5 by F. B. Cameron, inspector on Maui for the U. S. Food Administration, for failure to properly report the purchases and use of wheat flour. Mr. Cameron states that unless this restaurant keeper gets his business properly organized to comply with the food administration's orders within a few days that his license will be taken from him and he will be compelled to go out of business.

This is the first instance on Maui that has been disciplined for violations of the food regulations, but Mr. Cameron states that unless a number of other business houses pay stricter attention to the law they will be closed also.

Kerr--Hansen

A pretty, though simple church wedding occurred last Friday evening in the Church of the Good Shepherd when Miss Olava A. M. Hansen, of Puunene became the bride of Mr. James A. Kerr, of Honolulu. Following the ceremony the wedding party, consisting of only the family and a few of the bride's more intimate friends, partook of a daintily appointed dinner at the Grand Hotel, before departing for Lahaina where the happy couple took the Mauna Kea for a brief honeymoon at Hauula, Oahu, before beginning housekeeping in Honolulu.

The bride was beautiful in simple crepe de chine gown. Her bride's maid was Miss Carolyn Hansen, her sister, who was also very pretty in a white. The groom was attended by Mr. William White, of Honolulu. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. Charles Villiers, rector of the church.

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers, the work having been done by Mrs. Fantom, a close friend of the bride.

Miss Hansen is the daughter of C. Hansen, of Puunene, and is popular among a wide circle of friends on Maui. She has been a teacher at the Keahua school. Mr. Kerr is a rising young business man of Honolulu, where he is treasurer of the Benson Smith Company.

Raymond May Make Campaign Warm

Honolulu Politicians Trying To Decide Effect Of Maui Man's Entrance General Belief He Is Formidable To All Other Candidates

The announcement of Dr. J. H. Raymond that he will be in the race this year for the delegateship has created quite a stir in political circles in both parties. The Advertiser has the following to say in connection with the Maui medico's candidacy:

Dr. J. H. Raymond of Maui in confirming the announcement that he will be a candidate for the office of Delegate to congress, says that he will make the race as an independent candidate, and not as a Democrat. In connection with this announcement it is held that Doctor Raymond is so well known as a Democrat that he will be considered such by many and his support will come very largely from that party, which, the political wiseacres think, will further reduce the vote which Link McCandless might expect should be decided to run again.

McCandless, in an interview published in these columns Sunday morning, said that the appearance of Charles Rice in the last primary as a candidate against Kuhio caused a slump of Hawaiians from the Democratic

Only Japanese May Buy Japanese Rice

Nipponese Government Will Prevent Exports To Islands Unless Guarantee Is Given—Food Shortage Compels Importers To Comply

The Japanese government has notified importers in the territory that until further notice no rice will be allowed to go out of Japan for Hawaii except on guarantee that it will be sold only to Japanese.

Maui dealers received this information the first of this week through the Japanese consul general, in Honolulu. It means that hereafter no one not of the Japanese race may buy Japan rice from any dealer.

The edict came as a considerable surprise, but judging from the attitude of Maui dealers it will be lived up to.

"Hawaii could not afford to refuse to accept the conditions" one importer stated, "for the reason that without Japanese rice these islands would be up against it for food. It isn't a question of substituting. There is not the available food of any kind to feed our population, eliminating Japanese rice."

The reason for the Japanese ultimatum is said to be the great scarcity of rice for home consumption. Japan doesn't want to export any rice at all, but is willing to make a concession providing only her subjects are benefitted.

It will be three or four months yet before the new rice crop of the mainland can be counted upon to relieve the rice famine here.

Bridge was the feature of the afternoon, and Miss Couch won the prize. Pretty decorations of ferns and yellow lilies had been provided for the occasion and a delicious apricot sherbert was served with lady-fingers.
